

GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE CONSIDERING CHINA-JAPAN PEACE

May Bring Joint Pressure On Chiang Kai-Shek's Government to Seek End of War

TO SALVAGE THE STAKE

Want to Save Two Billion Investments in South China

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(INS)—Great Britain and France are considering a plan for bringing joint pressure on Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government to seek a peace with Japan and end the year-old Sino-Japanese slaughter, according to information reaching here.

The strategem is not prompted by humanitarian purposes alone, but is aimed primarily at salvaging the two billion dollar stake France and Great Britain have in South China, Hong-Kong and French Indo-China. International News Service was informed. It is feared that unless Japan's invasion of China is soon halted she will drive the nationalist forces into the remote interior of Southwest China, capture all the China coastal area from Shanghai south to Indo-China and wipe out British and French commercial interests and investments there just as effectively as has been done in Manchukuo.

The British and French believe the moment is ripe, while vast areas of China, including the south, are still free from the sway of the conquering Japanese armies, and while Hankow is still in the possession of the Chinese, to step in and bring about an armistice and eventual peace between the two warring countries.

It is conceded generally in military quarters that Hankow probably will fall early in August under the impetus of the present Japanese drive. Japan has concentrated a force of 400,000 crack, seasoned troops in the drive to take the Chinese capital.

Jerusalem, July 8.—Arab-Jew enmity exploded into fresh outbreaks of deadly terrorism today in defiance of British national and army reinforcements.

Four Arabs were killed and nineteen wounded when a bomb was thrown into an Arab bus at Jaffa Gate, in Jerusalem. This brought the total in four days of rioting, bombing and battling to at least 39 killed and 130 wounded.

Consider Refugees' Plight

Evian-Les-Bains, France, July 8.—Two committees today set to consider at the conference of refugees on preliminary measures, and find homes for potential exiles whom it appeared few of the 32 nations represented here are eager to welcome.

Ranging from Australia's flat "no," six nations indicated they had no "wide open spaces" to welcome Jews and other refugees from totalitarian states. Varying negatives were expected by Belgium, Brazil, Holland, Argentine and Canada.

Missoula, Mont., July 8.—Bodies of four of the nine persons believed killed in the explosion of a locomotive and wreck of an eastbound Northern Pacific freight train were removed from the debris in Hell Gate Canyon, east of here, today.

Bodies recovered included that of Fireman Elza Dunlap of Missoula. Engineer Ernie Weston of Missoula also was believed killed. Between ten and fifteen others were injured.

The 75-car train was wrecked shortly before midnight when an explosion of the boiler in the locomotive buried heavy steel plates from the engine back over the train, and threw at least ten cars into the Clark Fork River.

CITY DWELLERS WARNED TO ACQUIRE MUCH SOUGHT-FOR SUN TAN IN SMALL DOSES

City dwellers who come out of a winter's hibernation for some of that golden-brown sun tan should take it easy, according to Dr. Herman G. Morgan, secretary of the Indiana Board of Health.

"Summer is the healthiest part of the year in this climate and sunshine generally is considered one of nature's best remedies, but like any other beneficial agent it can be overdone," Dr. Morgan warned.

His suggestions were:

1. Don't rely on oil applications to save you from severe burn.
2. Be particularly careful if you are in the middle-age group or already suffer from physical infirmities.
3. You can get as much sun in your own backyard as near water.
4. Breathe all the fresh air you can to clear your respiratory tracts of soot and carbon soaked up during the winter.
5. Drive carefully when in pursuit of summer health and out-door recreation so an accident won't cut short your vacation.

"With the advent of summer and the desire of the majority of persons to enjoy outdoor recreation, the usual crop of sunburns soon will be ready to harvest," he said.

"Severe sunburns not only are annoying and painful but can readily throw an overload on the kidneys, skin and other excretory organs. Moderation should be the axiom with those who have to lead an indoor life during the winter months until the body muscles regain their lost tone."

A prominent Mill street haberdasher fished overtime on Wednesday, and still could only boast of four fish which he and his young son caught between them.

The "overtime" fishing was not premeditated, and in spite of the extra hours the number of fish did not increase, and neither did the good humor of the Mill street business man.

Reaching a New Jersey resort at an early morning hour the two were towed in their rowboat to the middle of a bay, where they remained to fish for a few hours.

Plans were made for the tower to return at a specified time to tow the little craft to shore.

But the appointed time passed, the sun became hotter, and the fish became fewer, and finally refused to even nibble.

A good, long period of rowing finally brought the two to shore, where they discovered the owner of the larger boat had forgotten completely of their existence, and returned to his home.

LIMERICK ANSWERS

INCREASE THREE-FOLD

Contestants Reside in Wide Area Adjacent to Bristol As Well As in The Borough

ANNOUNCE WINNERS

Three communities come into the prize-winning limelight this week, with the close of the second Limerick contest conducted by The Courier.

One of this week's winners resides in Edgely, two in Andalusia, and three in Bristol.

The correct solution to Limerick No. 1 printed in this week's contest, Tuesday's edition of The Courier, follows:

The curtain went up on the show, The heroine's cheeks were aglow,

When the hero, named Jack,

Chanced to step on a tack,

And a Jumping Jack broke up the show.

The winners of the above limerick, who had the correct last line, and who turned in the nearest answers are:

First prize of $3, Miss Frances Patterson, Bath Road, Bristol.

Second prize of $2, Sarah A. Ellis, 416 Lafayette street.

Third prize of $1, Mrs. A. J. Keyser, Whittier avenue, Andalusia.

The second Limerick, together with the correct line, is:

When he rounded a tree,

To discover that he

Had found trouble Bruin in pairs.

First prize of $3, Harry Pittman, Edgely.

Second prize of $2, Mrs. W. G. Lange, 742 Cedar avenue, Andalusia.

Third prize of $1, Miss Marie Craven, 112 Mulberry street.

Three times the number of answers received for last week's contests were received at the office of The Courier during the past two days. They came by mail and by messenger, and among the many towns represented were: Doylestown, Langhorne, Edgely, Humesville, Crofton, Andalusia, Bristol, Cornwells Heights, Eddington, Catawissa, Newportville.

The words "in fact" continue to "stump" many of the contestants, who persist in including these in the winning line. Some had left out or put in one small word in the wrong place, while others had used punctuation marks.

One of the contestants put much time on arranging his answer, the contest blank being bordered in yellow and blue, with the answer written in green crayon.

The correct words for the last lines appeared in the advertisements of the following:

And, Bobbette Beauty Salon; A. J. S. Lynn; Jumping, Townsite Building and Loan Association; Jack, Hardy's Shoe Shop; Broke, Woler's Paint and Wallpaper Store; Up, Marty Green's Army and Navy Stores; The Frank Wright Fuel Co., Inc.; Show, Ida's Beauty Salon.

UNBOUND

What one commentator describes as a "remarkable memorandum" has been prepared at Washington by Dr. Paul Gourrich, SEC economist. It proposed that the Government underwrite, as it is put, a 50 per cent increase in production of various basic and otherwise important industries. By this it is meant that the Government would stand good for losses these industries might incur in stepping up their production.

This is the kind of idea that comes from staring too long at national income figures. All that stands between the present national income of $50,000,000,000 and a desirable one of $75,000,000,000 or more is a relative absence of confidence. The machines, the materials, the eager labor, even the consumers all are ready for effort. They lack only the confidence to begin; so why not have the Government supply the confidence by insuring enterprise against loss?

With elaborate respect to the learned Dr. Gourrich, there are two reasons why not. One of them is that, until the millennium delivers us all from temptation, it will not be feasible to underwrite losses without putting some sort of ceiling over prices and profits. Experience has taught us that fixed-price systems will not increase the national income; they necessarily cater to inefficiency and their end products are stagnation and decay.

The other reason why not is that the only business confidence which is worth anything is the kind business evolves for itself, not that which depends on use of the Government's theoretically limitless credit. We can not explain this, but it is a fact of human nature, also taught, over and over again, by experience of the last few years.

We note the Gourrich plan, as described, somewhere between the Townsend plan and the plan called EPIC.

GOOD NEWS FOR CHILDREN

If your doctor has been advising you to take cod liver oil and you don't like it, how would you like to shift to a "charged" egg for breakfast as a source of vitamin D? Out at Ames, Ia., at the Iowa State College, Dr. H. B. Thomas is working on such a plan for you.

Tests made by experimental feeding of hens prove that an egg can be produced containing as much vitamin D as is contained in three teaspoonsful of cod liver oil. Dr. Thomas began the experiments at the request of physicians who prefer to prescribe some normal, tasty food as the source of the vitamin. It seems the doctor doesn't like to see the children making up faces over their cod liver oil. Vitamin D is a cure for rickets.

The experiments have been in progress for two years and are slow because all results are tried out on rats. The method is to keep the rat on a deficient diet until he gets rickety, and then feed him back to health with the eggs. The care with which the experiments are checked is shown by the fact that more than 100 rats are used in measuring the vitamin concentration in each egg.

The Japanese language contains no profanity. Therefore the ingenious Jap must translate Sherman's definition into deeds.

young men meant by breaking into and robbing the restaurant.

Other witnesses included Raymond Rosenberger, father of Elmer, one of the defendants; Joseph H. Oliver, 44 Vine street, Perkasee, night superintendent in the silk mill which employs Edwards; Raymond Wenhold, of Milford Square, foreman in the Quakerstown box factory, which employs Rosenberger, all of whom testified they bore excellent reputations and were steadily employed when the crime was committed.

Judge Boyer stipulated that the young men should pay equally the costs of prosecution and also pay the sum of $20 which will cover the loss and damage done to the roadside restaurant.

Meivin G. Schaller, 23, Kempton, R. D. No. 1, Lehigh county, who is now serving time in the Bucks County Prison on a drunken driving charge, pleaded guilty to larceny, which involved the stealing of chickens, before Judge Boyer on Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Boyer suspended sentence awaiting the outcome of the drunken driving sentence. Schaller admitted stealing four chickens, which were valued at $2.80, from his uncle, Frank Schmoey, near Spinnerstown, whom he was visiting.

Private Walter A. Haman, of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, testified Schaller stole chickens in Lehigh county and that a detainer has been lodged against him by Lehigh county.

tent to ravish and assault and battery, was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation for five years with Horace E. Gwinner as Probation Officer.

Judge Boyer, who spoke to the youth, stipulated that he should stay out of Bucks county. "You may visit your grandparents in Bucks county, in case of illness on their part, only with the permission of the Court," said Judge Boyer. "If you must come up to Bucks county ask for permission from Probation Officer Gwinner, who will speak to the Court," said Judge Boyer.

The youth pleaded guilty to criminally attacking two small girls while visiting at the home of his grandparents in Bensalem township. Judge Boyer pointed out to the parents of the youth, both of whom were in court, that much of the responsibility for their son becoming a law abiding and respectable citizen rests on their shoulders.

Something Every Woman Should Know

1. Modette Machineless Pads HAVE NO CHEMICAL ACTION on the hair as the chemicals in the pad act only as a source of heat. Even though there is no chemical contact, or possible reaction, between Modette Pads and the hair the chemicals in Modette Pads are so harmless that a pad could be placed in a glass of water and one could then drink the water with absolute safety.
2. The comfort of Modette Machineless Waves can only be completely appreciated from actual experience. This comfort is gained by your freedom of movement, minimum weight, cooler surrounding air, and peace of mind.
3. Danger of burns is eliminated.
4. Your hair remains soft and lustrous, not brittle and dry.
5. Modette waves are so natural-looking that they defy comparison, yet will last as long as waves produced by any method of permanent waving.

BRISTOL

The "Great Lover" has come back again! And in his return, he proves that the tales of his uncanny charm and almost superhuman appeal to women of every class have not been one whit overdrawn!

The "Great Lover," of course, is Rudolph Valentino—Valentino the Magnificent, Valentino the Compelling—and he comes back tonight to the screen of the Bristol Theatre, where his greatest film, "The Sheik," is showing in a return engagement.

Those of us who remember Valentino as he was when "The Sheik" was first released thrilled anew to the fire and passion of his acting, and to the unequalled charm which he possessed to a degree never even approached by any other star—and those to whom Valentino had been only a legend and a myth learned how truly great a screen actor can be.

In line with their policy of presenting the pick of screen entertainment to their patrons, the Grand Theatre will have as its feature attraction, today, "The Adventures of Robin Hood," a massive Technicolor melodrama, produced by Warner Bros., starring Andy Pfaffenrath's Rohm & Haas nine chalked up its third straight triumph of the second half of the Bristol Twilight League last evening on the Maple Beach diamond as Reds Gallagher handed the Superior Zinc a coat of whitewash while his mates drove home four runs to win, 4-0.

Five hits was the best the Superiors could garner off the former Bristol High School ace. In previous games, the zinc smelters' guns always roared loud but last night, Gallagher appeared to muzzle them and he set them down in the first inning without a score.

Only in the first and third innings, was the red-headed chemical workers' southpaw in any difficulty. The Superiors put two on base in each of these frames but could not score. Gallagher struck out six.

Ralph Strump and Reds Cummons did the slinging for the losers. Between them, the Rohm & Haas team made ten hits. Jimmy Massilla had two of the ten hits, one a tremendous triple to center which accounted for a run in the third. Sullivan's double in the first scored two runs while a double by Locke and Bunny Brunner's safe blow scored the fourth marker. Brunner had three hits in four trips to the plate and also added a stolen base to his total.

ODD FELLOWS DEFEAT GRUNDY NINE, 10 TO 0

After winning three straight, the winning streak of the Grundy ball team was snapped last evening on the latter's field as the Odd Fellows finally found the range in the hit column and amassed a 10-0 score against the woolen workers.

From the outset it was evident that it was not a Grundy night for the Odds jumped on Ralph Narcisi for a trio of tallies in the first with the help of two errors and a triple by Leo Hibbs, and then added four more in the third. Two in the fourth and another in the fifth completed the scoring.

While all this was going on "Jake" Paul had the Grundynen eating out of his paws. Two hits, both doubles, was the Grundy total for the evening. He struck out nine batters and issued one pass. His mates committed two errors behind his pitching.

Bristol A. A. Nine To Play at Toms River

Bristol A. A. will travel to Toms River on Sunday and play the strong club of that place. This club defeated Landreth Seed team a couple of weeks ago, 6 to 3, so Manager Mulholland is going to put his strongest lineup in this game on Sunday.

Hal Snyder will toe the slab, with McCue on the receiving end. The rest of the lineup will be: Palowez, Stallone, Tosti, Harrison, Bauroth, McGinley, Choua, Dougherty, Whyne.

The A. A. club will travel to New York in a couple of weeks to play the strong Springfield team of that place.

HULMEVILLE

CRUSADERS' CLUB TO SEND PHILA. ANGELS MAKE SEVERAL BOXERS HERE POOR SHOWING HERE

The Crusaders, one of the newer boxing clubs in Philadelphia, will send most of the opponents for the Bristol boys tonight as the St. Ann's Athletic Association holds another of its outdoor amateur boxing shows in its arena, Wood and Franklin streets.

All indications point to the largest crowd of the season to be on hand when announcer Mike DeKisi steps into the ring at nine o'clock to inform the boxing patrons the participants of the first bout.

Steve Litus, St. Ann's, who has been a favorite with the local fans since his first two bouts here, will have another stiff opponent in Nick Piccozi, Crusaders. Piccozi is a very hard hitter, and Litus will have to be on his guard in order to last the full limit of the fight.

Carl Spinelli, St. Ann's 126-pounder, fights Mike Clemis, upcoming lad of the Crusaders, who made a good showing in the recent Silver Gloves tournament. Spinelli won his last bout here.

The boy the local fans have been asked to watch, Reno Rescued, St. Ann's, is meeting John Lawless, Crusaders. Rescued looked to be the best of the St. Ann's newcomers and is certain to give Lawless a close fight. Lawless was in the semi-finals of the Silver Glove tournament.

Ernest Simko, 145 pounds, another youth who joined the St. Ann's stable, is meeting a tough lad in Lew Dorder, Crusaders. No science is expected in this bout as both boys are reckless fighters and swing from the first bell on.

The remainder of the bouts have not been sanctioned, but it is most likely that they will include the following: "Zip" Zimmerman, Tally Sciarra, Joseph Ferrara and Hokey Leighton.

Match-maker Johnny Straff promises a good show for the first Friday night show to be held here.

group on having such a fine business district as Mill street. "We do not have the diversity of stores in Doylestown that I have noticed here on Mill street."

The speaker briefly outlined the growth and development of the Doylestown Chamber of Commerce and pointed out that there are now more than 100 members.

Continuing with the theme of his address Reynolds emphasized the fact that advertising is a part of every successful business, whether it be a large or small business. "The success of the automobile industry is a fine example of what advertising will do," the speaker pointed out.

A regulated consistent program of advertising will be a benefit to every business that uses such a program, according to Reynolds. Mr. Moore, secretary of the Doylestown organization was introduced to the members of the Association.

Edward Wallace acted as chairman of the meeting last evening in the absence of Edgar Spencer, president.

Committee reports were heard following the address and included: report of publicity committee, Marty Green, chairman; Wednesday afternoon closing committee, I. Wolson, chairman, reported that practically every store on Mill street that had agreed to co-operate was closed.

The social committee reported that plans for the first annual picnic of the Association are nearing completion. The picnic will be held on Burlington Island Wednesday afternoon, August 10.
